Structurally trying to work within the Confluence software, since employees will have to log in to see anything

Slider with promoted articles. May have to be manually selected and published. Photographic assets will have to be acquired with regularity

Alerts will disappear when there are none to display. We'll use color to give it stronger visual attention

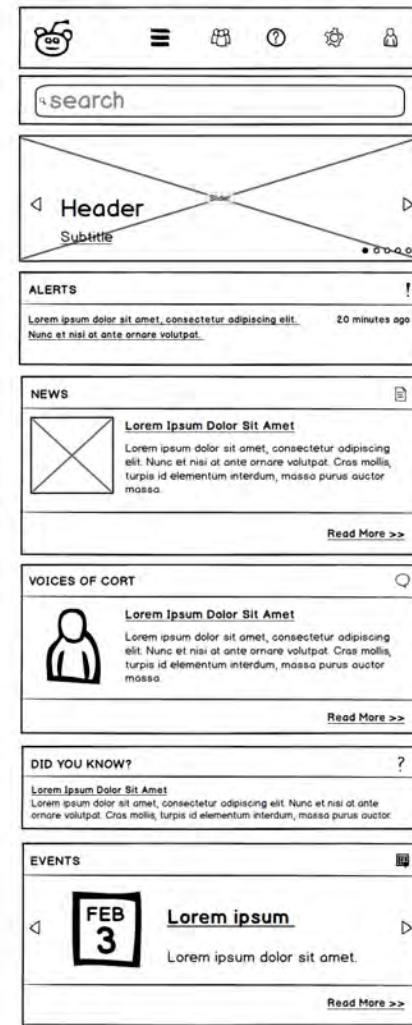

List of recently published blog entries by author

Feed from corporate calendar. Should include holidays. Raises the question about placing an Outlook calendar access point?

List of recently published items. Will include image assets, so there still need to have photography for subject matter or photos assets assigned. Can be as long as needed

Chronological feed from Salesforce and Twitter
